Books for the children and for parents to loan- LOCATED IN THE STAFF ROOM

Social Issues and Behaviours

The Bear Who Stared by Duncan Beedie

This humorous book about a socially awkward bear is great for showing children how they could try to make friends.

On Sudden Hill by Linda Sarah and Benji Davies

Sometimes strong friendships can break down when a new person joins the group. Try using this book for children struggling with playground politics or those who don't know how to share friendships.

Beyond the Fence by Maria Gulemetova

Thomas thinks he knows what's best for his friend Piggy and orders him around. Piggy becomes sad until he meets a wild pig, who helps to show him what true friendship really means.

'Have You Filled a Bucket Today?' by Carol McCloud

This heart-warming book encourages positive behaviour by using the concept of an invisible bucket to show children how easy and rewarding it is to express kindness, appreciation and love by "filling buckets."

I don't want to play nicely by Sue Graves

This story offers a way in to talk about how our actions can make others feel and how we can make that better, reinforcing good behaviour. At the end of the story, there are notes for parents and teachers with suggestions of ways to help children deal with the big emotions they experience.

Hippo owns up by Sue Graves

The perfect way to introduce young children to what honesty is, and help them understand the importance of owning up to your mistakes. Also included are suggestions for activities and ideas to talk through together to help children fully understand how their behaviour can impact on others.

Not Fair, Won't Share by Sue Graves

Miss Clover has made a space station. Posy, Ben and Alfie must take turns to play with it. But Posy doesn't want to share, and everyone gets cross. Can the children learn to enjoy it together?

Frog and the Stranger by Max Velthuijs

When Rat comes to live at the edge of their wood, the animals decide they don't like having a stranger in their midst. But Frog is friendly by nature, and decides to find out if Rat is really as unpleasant as he is made out to be. As Frog discovers, Rat is intelligent and good hearted, and proves in a series of unexpected emergencies that the other animals have been too quick to condemn him.

Giraffe is left out by Sue Graves

This simple, engaging story is the perfect way to introduce young children to what bullying is, and help them become aware of how their behaviour can impact on other children. There are even suggestions for activities and ideas to talk through together to help children understand.

Marshall Armstrong is New to Our School' by David Mackintosh

Quirky, witty and brilliant, Marshall Armstrong is new to school and he definitely stands out from the crowd; but will he find it easy to make friends? A quirky and witty 'first day at school' story from a brilliant new talent.

Feather Boy' by Nicky Singer

Essential Modern Classics are relaunched in gorgeous new covers bringing this timeless story to a new generation. Robert is a boy who can do anything - or so old Edith Sorrel at the nursing home tells him. Robert doesn't think so, knowing as he does that he is the school geek. But something compels him to do what Edith asks - to visit old Chance House, where a boy once fell to his death from the top floor flat, to confront his fears and find some answers. Niker the bully thinks this is a great laugh.

The Rainbow Fish' by Marcus Pfister

The Rainbow Fish is an international best-seller and a modern classic. Eye-catching foil stamping, glittering on every page, offers instant child appeal, but it is the universal message at the heart of this simple story about a beautiful fish who learns to make friends by sharing his most prized possessions that gives the book its lasting value.

Aldo by John Burningham

A young girl, an only child, is often lonely but she has a secret friend, Aldo, who is a giant rabbit. He comes to her when things get tough and together they face the world. On the bright side, she does have some good times with other children and then she doesn't need Aldo.

Growing Friendships by Eileen Kennedy-Moore

From psychologist and children's friendships expert Eileen Kennedy-Moore and parenting and health writer Christine McLaughlin comes a social development primer that gives kids the answers they need to make and keep friends. Friendship is complicated for kids. Almost every child struggles socially at some time, in some way. Having an argument with a friend, getting teased, or even trying to find a buddy in a new classroom...although these are typical problems, they can be very painful. And friendships are never about just one thing.

Talking about Illness and Grief

Goodbye Mog by Judith Kerr

Mog was tired. She was dead tired...Mog thought, 'I want to sleep for ever.' And so she did. But a little bit of her stayed awake to see what would happen next. Mog keeps watch over the upset Thomas family, who miss her terribly, and she wonders how they will ever manage without her. Nothing happens for some time...

A monster calls by Patrick Ness

Thirteen-year-old Conor awakens one night to find a monster outside his bedroom window, but not the one from the recurring nightmare that began when his mother became ill--an ancient, wild creature that wants him to face truth and loss.

Sad Book by Michael Rosen

We all have 'sad stuff' to deal with in life. What makes Michael Rosen most sad is thinking about his son, Eddie, who died. In this book he writes about his sadness, how it affects him, and some of the things he does to try to cope with it.

No Matter What by Debi Gliori

When Small is in a big bad mood, it's up to Large to help. But what if Small were a grizzly bear, or a scary crocodile - would Large still love him? Of course! A heartfelt story about the unconditional love each parent feels for their child.

When my parents forgot how to be friends by Jennifer Moore-Mallinos

Youngsters become confused and hurt when their parents constantly argue, then decide to divorce. This sensitively written book assures boys and girls that children are in no way responsible for their parent's inability to get along together.

Tell Me About Heaven, Grandpa Rabbit!: A book to help children come to terms with losing someone special by Jenny Album

This gentle and uplifting story is designed to help young children come to terms with losing someone special. The book follows the story of Bradley Bunny and his grandfather, Grandpa Rabbit. At one stage, Bradley asks Grandpa Rabbit what heaven is like.

I miss you by Pat Thomas

When a close friend or family member dies, it can be difficult for children to express their feelings. This book helps children understand that death is a part of life. Thomas, a psychotherapist and counselor, promotes positive interaction among children, parents, and teachers. Full-color illustrations.

Secret C - Talking about Cancer by Julie Stokes

When someone special dies by Marge Heegaard (not to write in)

A practical format for allowing children to understand the concept of death and develop coping skills for life, this book is designed for young readers to illustrate.

This book will help families communicate and evaluate a child's understanding and feelings about family change while teaching basic concepts of illness and healthy coping skills.

When something Terrible Happens by Marge Heegaard

Creates ways for children to explore the fright, confusion, and insecurity caused by traumatic events in their lives. A workbook to help children work out feelings about a traumatic event.

Families and difference

My Daddy's Going Away by Christopher MacGregor and Emma Yarlett

Children whose parents often work away from home in the military, or in other professions, could benefit from this book, which is sensitively written by Colonel Christopher MacGregor, based on his own experiences of deployment.

'Mum and Dad Glue' by Kes Gray

A little boy searches for a pot of parent glue to paste his mom and dad's marriage back together. He soon realizes that even though his parents' marriage is broken, their love for him remains as strong as ever. Divorce is an unhappy fact that affects many children's lives, and the story told in this book was written for those little boys and girls. Its message can help soothe their feelings and make them understand that their parents' separation is in no way their fault.

All about families by Felicity Brooks

Families come in all shapes and sizes and from all sorts of backgrounds. They speak various languages, eat different sorts of food, live in different kinds of homes and celebrate special occasions in a variety of ways. An entertaining and gently informative book that portrays diverse families and helps children think, talk about and understand difference.

Black Dog by Levi Pinfold

The youngest and bravest member of the Hope family is the only person who tames the Black Dog, a metaphor for depression, which grows bigger and bigger each time you try to ignore it. A particularly useful book for children who live with parents with mental health problems.

'Family Book' by Todd Parr

There are so many different types of families, and THE FAMILY BOOK celebrates them all in a funny, silly, and reassuring way. Todd Parr includes adopted families, step-families, one-parent families, and families with two parents of the same sex, as well as the traditional nuclear family

'And Tango Makes Three' by Simon Schuster

Roy and Silo are just like the other penguin couples at the zoo - they bow to each other, walk together and swim together. But Roy and Silo are a little bit different - they're both boys.

'Elmer' by David McKee

Elmer is different. Elmer is patchwork. The grey elephants all love him, but he soon starts to wonder what it would be like to be just the same as them...

'Wonder' by R.J Palacio

Auggie wants to be an ordinary ten-year-old. He does ordinary things - eating ice cream, playing on his Xbox. He feels ordinary - inside. But ordinary kids don't make other ordinary kids run away screaming in playgrounds. Ordinary kids aren't stared at wherever they go. Born with a terrible facial abnormality, Auggie has been home-schooled by his parents his whole life. Now, for the first time, he's being sent to a real school - and he's dreading it. All he wants is to be accepted - but can he convince his new classmates that he's just like them, underneath it all?

The Great Big Book of Families by Mary Hoffman and Ros Asquith

What is a family? Once, it was said to be a father, mother, boy, girl, cat and dog living in a house with a garden. But as times have changed, families have changed too, and now there are almost as many kinds of families as colours of the rainbow - from a mum and dad or single parent to two mums or two dads, from a mixed-race family to children with different mums and dads, to families with a disabled member.

Growing Up

'Counting Kisses' by Karen Katz

A best-selling book, introduces preschoolers to counting as all the loving phrases shared between a mother and her child are tallied as the day progresses.

Not for Kids! By Liz Walker

It's not a matter of if your kids see online pornography - it's when. The best thing we can do is prepare them in advance so they know what to do. Like most children, the character in the book, Milly, loves to explore and learn. One day while using her friend's phone, she sees images that make her feel sick. Milly was lucky to have a safe adult to help her through this experience and she now teaches children that some adult behaviours can be harmful for kids to see. Milly lets kids know that coming across these images is not their fault and she reminds them to always seek help from an adult if they see things that are not meant for kids eyes. Not for Kids! is the perfect tool for parents to teach their children what to do when they are exposed to explicit content, and for parents to learn how to best help their kids cope with what they've seen.
